

Our Mission

Since 1987, SERV Achievement Centers have been providing teaching, training and support to individuals with developmental disabilities and youth with behavioral challenges and emotional problems.

Services are individualized and based on an approach that utilizes the principles of applied behavior analysis in its treatment planning, teaching and provision of services.

All services promote individual responsibility, increase self-reliance and teach individuals and their families the skills necessary for living and working successfully in the community.

Benefits of our services

Employers who hire individuals with disabilities receive real benefits. The Progressive Achievement Center program can provide a company or business with a competent labor force, which can minimize problems with stability and attendance. Hiring an individual with a disability can also generate a positive public image for employers. Employers will gain experience in working with non-traditional work forces, in order to better cope with labor-short economics.

What is PAC?

The Progressive Achievement Center (PAC) program is an adult vocational training service that is designed to promote independence and provide individualized instruction in the areas that relate to employment.

PAC offers individuals an opportunity to use acquired vocational skills and training to meet the needs of employers throughout the community.

We teach each consumer socially valued marketable job skills and behaviors that mirror community standards, with a goal of greater independence for each consumer served.

The individuals who work in the PAC program have an expansive array of skills and abilities, which allow them to make substantial contributions to both large and small businesses and companies.

The PAC program is part of SERV Achievement Centers, Inc., which provides teaching, training and support to adolescents and adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities, as well as with behavioral challenges and emotional problems.

Serving Area Businesses

We perform various jobs at cost-effective rates, which include, but are not limited to, administrative support, janitorial services and general labor.

Jobs are completed in the following service delivery models:

Individual Placement: Locates a community-based job for a specific individual with a disability. A PAC Employment Trainer provides initial training and ongoing support at the job site.

Group Placement: Uses a full-time supervisor and a small group of individuals with disabilities, in an industry or corporation, where they can work in an integrated setting. The supervisor and/or supported employees may be employed by the industry itself, or by the PAC program.

Mobile Crew: Uses a full-time supervisor and a small group of individuals with disabilities, who travel together to multiple work sites in the community where they engage in volunteer and contractual work.

In-House Contracts: Locates subcontracted work from a community business or organization, to be completed at a price per unit or in some cases work is completed on a volunteer basis.

Volunteer: Provides services or duties for which an individual is not paid.

Other services of SERV A.C.

SERV Achievement Centers' services extend into the community.

Mobile Crisis Response Unit: This program brings effective behavioral intervention services to individuals (in their natural environment) with developmental disabilities who may have mental health diagnoses, who are in crisis, or are exhibiting crisis-like behavior.

Treatment Foster Care Program: Provides residential placement to individuals with social, emotional, behavioral or developmental disabilities who are experiencing difficulties in their natural home or who have no other place to live due to their challenging behavior.

Home-based Program: Is designed to assist families who are living with someone with social, emotional, behavioral or developmental disabilities.

Residential Program: Is comprised of eight group homes for adults with developmental disabilities who may have mental health diagnoses.

Supervised Apartment Program: Is designed for adults with developmental disabilities (who may have mental health diagnoses), who have the ability to live more independently.
